S&W board sued for harassment

Gauthreaux files federal discrimination charges

BY ED LEPOMA

The administrator of Hancock County's Sewer and Water District has filed a federal discrimination and harassment suit against the District.

Pam Gauthreaux, who has served the District for almost the last seven years and has guided the sewerage system through phenomenal growth, confirmed to the Echo this week, that she has been on administrative leave since Sept. 10. She said, despite efforts to resolve the situation quietly and without litigation, "The harassment and discrimination continued, and I had no other option than to file charges."

Gauthreaux's federal lawsuit was filed in U.S. District Court in Biloxi on Aug. 5, and it alleges numerous violations of the 1964 Civil rights Act. The suit specifically alleges that three commissioners, Sid Davis, Herman Johnson, and Richard Klimkiewicz conspired together to deny Gauthreaux any salary increases, and further discriminated against her by "uttering offensive insults about her in public meetings in her presence and in the presence of other individuals."

The suit requests the Court to judge the merits of the case, and it seeks unspecified compensatory and punitive damages.

Although the district and three commissioners are named defendants, in essence, the county Board of Supervisors are likely to be drawn into the court battle, since each supervisor appoints one Commissioner to the five-member board.

The suit was filed on Gauthreaux's behalf by Gulfport attorney Carolyn L. Henderson. It cites six counts of alleged

Board to 'air' park plans

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock County's Board of Supervisors have scheduled a public hearing for 10 a.m. Oct. 11 on a developer's ambitious plans to build an air park community near the White Cypress Lakes development.

The proposal by developer Tyrone Gill to build the Mint Julip Air Park has been opposed by many White Cypress residents. They have expressed concerns about the noise of planes taking off and landing, the loss of their privacy by planes flying overhead, the possibility of planes crashing and the possibility of further commercialization of the predominately wooded and residential area.

County Fire Marshal Richard Pate has said he's also concerned that residents would share roads where planes have priority over motorists and about plans to allow residents to store as much as 50 gallons of aircraft fuel at their homes.

Gill appealed to the Board of Supervisors after the Planning Commission, by a 4-0 vote last month, denied Gill's request for a special exception to the county's Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance so he could proceed with developing 82 lots and eventually 118 on a 230-acre tract he owns.

As it turned out, however, Gill told supervisors the land lies in an R-3 "multi-family residential zoning area, and his air strip does not need a special exception.

"We've met all criteria in the zoning text," Gill told supervisors. Willie Gavney, the county's chief building inspector and zoning enforcement officer, also backed up Gill's statement.

"There's nothing that says there can't be an airstrip in there, in an R-3 area," said Gavney. He said because the subdivision would have its own

Navy worker accused of theft

Allegedly took C-4 explosives

BY ED LEPOMA

An employee assigned to the Navy's Special Boat Unit #22 at the Stennis Space Center is being held without bond on charges that he stole land mines and transported them across state lines.

Harry Bowen, head of the FBI office in Gulfport, said James Elder, 38, of Poplarville, was arrested without incident at Stennis Wednesday, and is being held in the Harrison County jail until he is transferred back to Alabama.

A detention hearing is set for Elder next week in Tuscaloosa.

Elder is charged with possession and interstate transportation of nine Claymore mines containing C-4 explosives.

The mines, described by Bowen as "very dangerous weapons" were recovered in Alabama, but the FBI released few details.

Claymore mines are used to demolish buildings and other structures and have been used as anti-personnel devices.

If convicted, Elder could face a fine of up to $10,000 or imprisonment for up to 10 years or both.

Port's road to get $1.2M improvement

BY ED LEPOMA

The wheels are set in motion for the long-awaited realignment and widening of Lower Bay Road north to its junction with old U.S. Hwy. 90.

At a recessed meeting Thursday, Hancock County supervisors authorized the Port and Harbor Commission to make a state grant application for $1.2 million, which would pay 100 percent of the cost of the project.

P&H Executive Director Hal Walters told supervisors, "I'm reasonably sure we can access $1.2 million." The funds are Economic Development Highway Act funds available through the state Department of Economic and Community Development.

Walters said the only cost to the port and county would be for environmental permitting and mitigation, and he estimated each would have to pay around $12,500.

The plan is to straighten out a troublesome curb as Lower Bay road comes out on to Hwy. 90, and another bad curve going south. The road would be widened two feet, and later overlaid from the north gate of the Port Bienville Industrial Park to Hwy. 90.

Supervisors also gave the P&H authority to extend sewer and water mains on Road D at Stennis International Airport

Navy marks opening of new small craft school at Stennis

BY ED LEPOMA

The Navy turned out in dress whites and a Marine Corps band was based in from Albany, Georgia Friday for ceremonies marking the re-establishment of the Naval Small Craft Instruction and Technical Training School (NAVSCIATTS) at the Stennis space Center.

The ceremonies were held under a large white tent at the school's temporary training site, which is a 5,000-square-foot metal building that sits on land within the vast Army Ammunition Plant area.

In the Defense Authorization Bill passed last week, Congress allocated $9.6 million for the Navy to construct temporary living quarters and a cafeteria, classrooms, a laboratory and a supply warehouse for the school on a 150-acre tract of land adjacent to where Navy Seals now train. Officials said Stennis was chosen as the new location for the school "due to the presence of Naval Special Warfare Command's Special Boat Unit #22, and the proximity to unique river and coastal areas, which will allow the students to train in the same kinds of environments in which they will

October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month

Violence against women is the No. 1 crime in the world for 1999.

"The community needs to take domestic violence seriously," said Jane Philo, executive director of the Gulf Coast Women's Center for Nonviolence.

"Domestic violence can no longer be a private family problem; it's the community's problem."

October is National Domestic Violence Awareness Month. All the Coast mayors have proclaimed the special month.

Coast churches, synagogues and temples are joining the Peace Weekend Oct. 1-3 to show their support for domestic violence and for stopping the violence against women.

GCWCFN has asked all houses of worship to ring the church bells, offer special prayers or moments of silence during Peace Weekend.

"A woman is beaten every 15 seconds," said Peggy Cuevas, sexual assault specialist at the women's center. "We know that on every block in every city there is someone being beaten, and 95 percent of those are women."

GCWCFN also will sponsor a Community Recognition Luncheon at noon on Oct. 21 at Casino Magic Biloxi.

Coastians who have done outstanding work to stop domestic violence or promote domestic violence awareness will be honored, as will volunteers who have given countless hours of their time to the Women's Center.

Survivors of domestic violence will be honored at a dinner Oct. 20, also sponsored by GCWCFN.

Purple ribbons, signifying domestic violence awareness, will begin showing up all over the coast.

"We're asking community organizations and schools to make purple ribbons. We're making purple ribbons, and we want people to wear them," said Cuevas.

Women's Center staffers will present programs at schools, churches and organizations throughout October.

To schedule a speaker for domestic Violence Awareness Month, call Cuevas at 436-3809 or Andrea Yeager at 868-9324.

The Women's Center, which was founded in 1977, provides:

- A 24-hour domestic violence and sexual assault crisis line, 435-1968 in Harrison County, 875-5433 in Jackson County and 1-800-800-1396 in all other counties

- Temporary shelter for battered women and their children
- Community education
- Individual and group counseling

- Nonviolent preschool for children ages 3-5
- Infant/toddler stimulation program

- Legal clinic for victims of domestic violence

Grant to improve management of brown shrimp fishery

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources has received a federal grant in the amount of $1million from the Department of Commerce, through National Marine Fisheries Service, for damage to the brown shrimp fishery caused by the 1997 opening of the Bonnet Carre' Spillway.

The spillway, which is used for flood control of the Mississippi River, was opened on March 17, 1997, for the seventh time since 1937.

The spillway opening introduced large amounts of freshwater into the western Mississippi Sound, causing brown shrimp movement out of the Sound in search of higher salinity waters.

"The DMR is grateful to Governor Kirk Fordice, Mississippi's Congressional Delegation and State Legislators for their assistance in making these funds available," said E.G. Woods.

These funds will be used in several ways to benefit Mississippi's brown shrimp fishery. A portion of these funds will be used to install and maintain hydrological monitoring equipment in the western Mississippi Sound.

These instruments will provide real-time access to temperature, salinity and tidal movement at selected locations.

Work will also be done in cooperation with University of Southern Mississippi, Institute of Marine Sciences, Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, to study brown shrimp habitat utilization and distribution throughout the Mississippi Sound.

The DMR will also be working with The Mississippi State University, Sea Grant Advisory Service to evaluate shrimp trawl modifications and document fishery effort, which can be used to reduce impacts of natural disasters on the brown shrimp fishery.

This information will provide the DMR with tools to better manage Mississippi's brown shrimp fishery.

The Department of Marine Resources is dedicated to enhancing, protecting and conserving marine interests of the State by managing all marine life, public trust wetlands, adjacent uplands and waterfront areas to provide for the optimal commercial, recreational, educational and economic uses of these resources consistent with environmental concerns and social changes.

Southern Miss study will focus on gaming industry

The University of Southern Mississippi will coordinate a research study of the state's dockside gaming industry with an eye toward planning future growth.

Southern Miss contracted with the state's Institutions of Higher Learning (IHL) to coordinate the study after the 1999 Mississippi Legislature provided $200,000 for the project.

The study will develop a profile of Mississippi's gaming customer and identify ways to enhance tourism -- and therefore tax revenues -- in the state.

"Whereas past studies have focused primarily on the economic impact and current taxes generated by gaming, this analysis will be more futuristic and predictive," said Robert Ingram, executive director of economic development at USM.

"With approximately 10 percent of the state's total tax revenues coming from gaming-related activities, it is essential that we understand Mississippi's gaming industry and how it will react to future events such as recessions, the potential introduction of gaming into nearby states, and other such scenarios," he said.

Researchers will survey casino patrons to develop a customer profile. They will then compare that profile with Nevada and New Jersey profiles.

"This will allow us to determine how closely the Mississippi industry compares to its major competitors," Ingram said, noting that as a result, state leaders will know whether to use competing states as models for Mississippi's planning.

"The information can also be used to identify complimentary amenities -- golf courses, deep-sea fishing, historical attractions -- which can be enhanced to attract more visitors and cause them to stay longer," said Ingram, a former mayor of McComb.

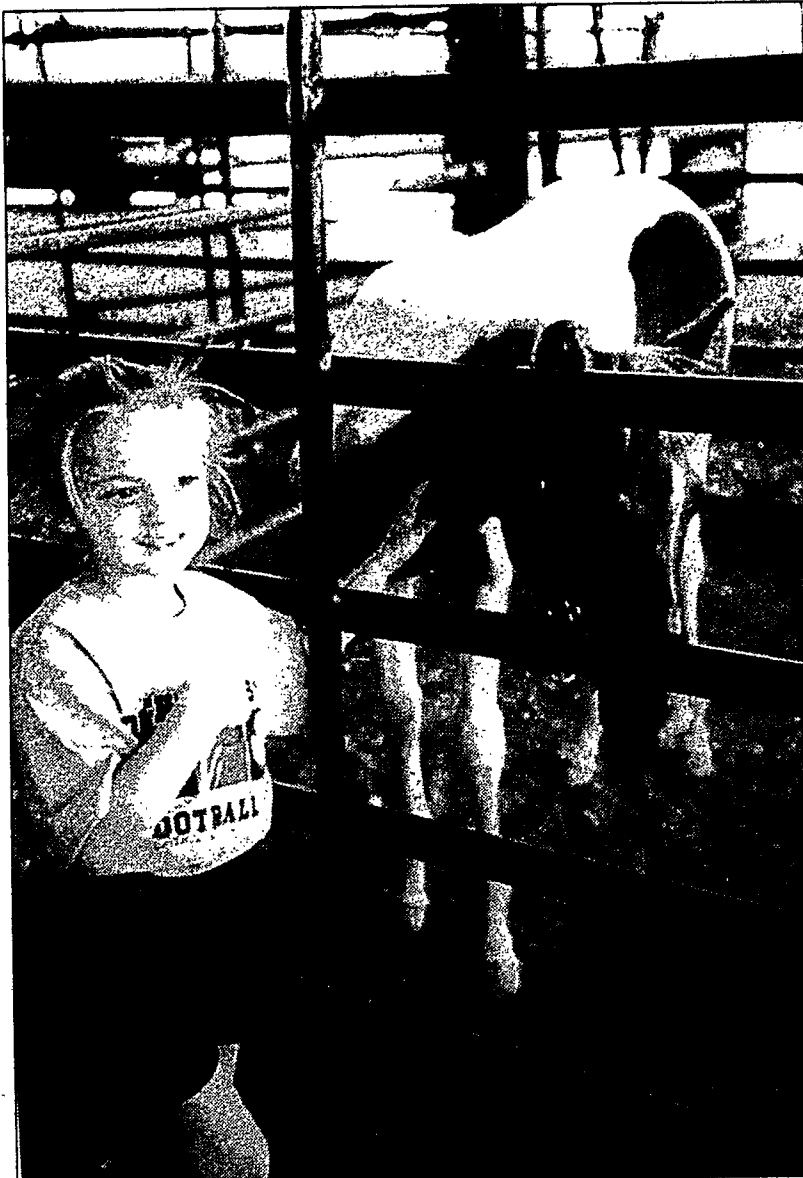

Such amenities could be used to create "destination resorts rather than one-day-type stops totally focused on gaming," he added.

The statewide economic assessment of non-Indian gaming also will look at growth potential of the industry, local and state tax revenue projections, laws related to non-gaming investment, and other issues that could affect gaming revenues in Mississippi.

The university will subcontract with independent research or marketing consulting firms to produce a majority of the raw data. University personnel then will analyze that data and compile the results into a final report.

"We'll be doing surveys of casino patrons, as well as casino executives and employees, Mississippi gaming regulators and others related to gaming in the state," Ingram said. "University personnel and students will also do extensive secondary research."

Preliminary findings will be available by the end of this year for use during the Year 2000 legislative session. The final report will be completed by June 30, 2000, Ingram said.

Horsin' around

Students from East Hancock Elementary toured the new County Fairgrounds during the recent livestock show. Members of the 4-H Club showed bulls, cows, goats, ponies, rabbits, turkeys and chickens. The students were taught the proper stance a bull must hold during judging. They watched a cow being milked. They were told how to care for and feed a goat. They saw the proper way to clean the hooves of a miniature pony. After the demonstration the students were allowed to view the animals up close and in some cases pet the animals. The field trip concluded with some old-fashioned sack races, three-legged races and 50-yard dashes.

Lake Columbia opening re-scheduled

Lake Columbia in Marion County will remain closed to fishing as a result of low water levels, according to the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

At a meeting in Jackson recently, the Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks delayed the original October 16 opening until the south Mississippi lake is back up nearer its normal pool level which will permit safe boat launching.

At its normal pool, Lake Columbia covers an area of about 93 acres. Presently the lake covers only about 70 acres.

"The lake now is about four feet low, and boat travel could be hazardous," Fisheries Biologist Capt. John Skains of Madison said.

The 93-acre lake located southeast of Columbia has been under renovation since 1995-96. The lake has been stocked with Florida largemouth bass, bluegill, redear sunfish and channel catfish.

Wilkerson will not run for Council

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Former Bay St. Louis Councilman for Ward Four John Wilkerson announced Wednesday that he would not be seeking the Councilman-at-Large Council seat in the Oct. 12, special election.

Wilkerson in a written statement said, "Many of you have called, and visited to ask me to enter the race for Bay St. Louis Councilman-at-Large. On Tuesday I went to City Hall and got the papers to qualify and began the process.

"As I began gathering signatures I realized that since my retirement I have adopted a new life style. I love to travel and have been on the road a lot since my retirement. In spite of what you heard six years ago my health has been good and has allowed me to do what I want to do.

"I have never taken on a job that I could not give 100% of myself. I feel that in order to give the position Councilman-at-Large 100%, I would have to change my present life style and I am not prepared to do that.

"When I served as the Councilman for Ward Four, I served with the best interest of Bay St. Louis in mind. What I ask each of you, is that you learn about the candidates and then get our and vote. Please elect someone that will serve in the tradition of myself and Jimmy Rutherford who gave much to the city, even when it hurt just to be there.

"I am not endorsing a candidate, but only asking that you vote with the memory of Jimmy Rutherford in your mind.

"I want to also take this opportunity to thank all of my loyal supporters and friends for their kind words of encouragement and I look forward to working for a better Bay St. Louis in the future."

Crime Stoppers seeking help

The Mississippi Crime Stoppers Advisory Council needs your help in solving the following crime.

Sometime during the week-end of July 24-26, 1999, someone stole a blue 1989 International flat bed truck from Mitchell Cranes in Meridian.

This truck had four counter weights on the bed along with wooden mats. The suspect took the truck south on I-59 toward the Louisiana state line.

Approximately 2 miles north of the state line, the truck lost the counter weights, leaving them in the roadway.

At 10:20 p.m. two vehicles were involved in separate accidents caused by these weights. The truck was recovered in Ocean Springs, abandoned at The Holiday Inn Express at I-10 and Hwy. 609 on September 1, 1999.

If you have any information on the auto theft in Meridian or the suspect who stole the vehicle, please call crime stoppers at 1-888-8CRIMES(27-4637).

Crime Stoppers will pay the first correct caller up to $1,000 for information that leads to an arrest in this case.

Your call will be held in strict confidence. We don't want your name, just your information.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The 12th annual Conservation Field Day sponsored by the Hancock County Soil & Water District, HCSWCD Auxiliary and staff will take place on Friday October 8, at Buccaneer State Park, Waveland.

This annual event is for all fourth graders in public and private schools of Hancock County.

This special field day for the fourth graders will include such subjects as marine debris, recycling, water quality, erosion control, forestry, Gulf of Mexico & Conservation of our Natural Resources.

This day-long event will include some 850 students along with 32 teachers and numerous volunteers at the various stations in the park.

This is a good educational as well as fun day for the fourth graders.

Among the agencies involved in the program are the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service, Mississippi Forestry Commission, EPA, Gulf of Mexico Program, Mississippi Association Conservation Districts, Hancock County Master Gardeners, Congressman Gene Taylor's office, Waveland Fire & Rescue, HCSWCD Earth Team Volunteers and others.

Education for a child is not only in the classroom, as it is in every-day living.

Over the years I have been involved in the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's beautification efforts and many of the programs for the Conservation Education Field Day involve protection of our environment.

It is hoped that weather will cooperate and the youngsters will have a great day.

Do not forget the Our Lady Academy's Annual Food Fest which continues through today. Activities begin at 11 a.m.

After church, folks may want to stop by and pick up lunch. They will have a wide variety of foods to select from.

This OLA's major annual fund raiser. There are activities for all age groups.

This week newspapers across America celebrate National Newspaper Week.

The theme for this year is "Carrying the Torch of Freedom into the New Millennium."

The first newspaper to be published in America was published in September 25, 1690.

In Hancock County the first publication of a newspaper, as far as I have been able to trace, was The Gainesville Advocate, January 17, 1846. Gainesville was the county seat of Hancock County at the time. The community is one of those located in a section of the county which is now controlled by the John C. Stennis Space Center.

There have been other newspapers over the years. Beginning in 1866 was the Gainesville Star, The Bay St. Louis Gazette, 1868; The Sea Coast Republican, 1872; Bay St. Louis Herald, 1876; The Sea Coast Gazette, 1880; Bay St. Louis Republican, 1887, which name was changed to the Gulf Coast Progress and continued to be published until 1929.

The Sea Coast Echo's first publication date was January 9, 1892, so we are now in our 108th year of publication.

The Echo published the Pearlinton Herald for several years beginning in 1897. The Hancock County Eagle, which was sold to The Echo in 1967, began in Sept. 1949.

When I began my career in 1957, there were three newspapers in Bay St. Louis, The Sea Coast Echo, Hancock County Eagle and The Light.

Since that time several other weekly papers have been published in the county.

Needless to say, newspapers have played an important role in our county over the years and will continue for many years to come.

In the early years of The Echo, in addition to local news, national and international news was published. The early issues of the paper were only four pages.

Newspapers are the histories of our communities, and it always amazes me about things which happened many years ago that happen today.

I do believe that when the year 2001 rolls around that newspapers will still be around and playing an important role in the everyday life of this nation's residents.

Henry Otis dropped by Wednesday afternoon to tell me about a close call his daughter, Carolyn Snyder of Hattiesburg, had last week at work.

She was working Forest General Hospital's information desk next door to the lab when a visitor got behind her and stabbed her in the throat narrowly missing her jugular vein.

She spent several days in the hospital and appears to be doing well, Otis reports.

Henry said she was very lucky. Police did recover her purse, which was snatched during the stabbing, and police have nabbed the suspect.

For the past several weeks the folks have been very busy at the Waveland Market Center preparing for Thursday's opening.

The new food center is in the location of the old Schwegmann Store location in Our Shopping Center.

The interior of the building has been completely redone including the floors, ceilings, fixtures, etc.

Jason Hamilton is the store manager and it is owned by Supermarkets Companies, Inc., the same as the Diamondhead Supermarket.

The new food center will have several departments which are new to our area.

Crank up the engines, get ready for the 4th annual Cruisin' the Coast October 7-10.

As many of you know, many of the activities take place in Bay St. Louis on Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

I spoke to Beth Carriere, Hancock County Tourism Development Bureau executive director on Friday, and she reported there were some 2,318 vehicles pre-registered for the four-day event along the Mississippi Gulf Coast. At pre-registration time last year there were 1,300, so one can see this year's event will be the largest yet.

There will be live entertainment and all kinds of activities and also the displaying of the vintage vehicles.

I will have to be on the lookout for a 1928 Ford Model A which I learned how to drive, and a 1936 Plymouth, which was the first vehicle I purchased for $50 while a junior in high school.

I am sure there are others who will be seeking a vehicles like the one they learned how to drive or the first car they owned.

Newspapers: THE WORLD (AND BEYOND) AT YOUR DOORSTEP-YESTERDAY, TODAY, AND TOMORROW!

By Jerry Brown
Dean, University of Montana
School of Journalism

I have a dream, a bad dream, that journalism schools are educating the antiquarians of tomorrow.

As an administrator/professor and a former weekly newspaper editor and English teacher, I can prattle on about balanced reporting, clear and concise writing, getting a well-rounded education.

For 20 years, I have preached the First Amendment to journalism students and, for an altar call, I've pleaded for the high place of journalism in this democracy.

But, even amongst the faithful, doubt creeps in.

I see my misgivings reflected in the eyes of parents visiting with their high school juniors to discuss careers in journalism.

More anxious than their teenagers, they want to know what their future holds for the articulate or irreverent one who wants to be a sports reporter or anchorperson.

They want to hear about salary and benefits, the dearest of phrases to parents facing increased college costs.

And some let me know what they think about the liberal, out-of-control "modern media."

I reply that a journalism education will require their child to be disciplined (they like that!), that journalism professors demand accurate reporting under deadline pressure, that our graduates are grounded in traditional liberal arts studies and that the demands of the profession require the learning of computer technologies.

Armed with such a broad education, graduates are best

Newspapers: Carrying the Torch of Freedom Into the New Millennium

fitted for whatever the vaunted millennium brings.

Yes, I say all that, and I believe it. Most days, anyway.

What I don't say is that too many freshmen arrive with poor work and study habits, weak writing skills, little missionary zeal, a glamorized notion of journalism and a do-for-no attitude created by indulgent or absent parents.

I also don't say that if the pay had been higher, the hours shorter and the opportunities greater, I'd probably still be a member of the working press.

If asked I would say journalism teachers in professional schools are, in fact, members of the working press, with an obligation to produce graduates capable of entry-level employment.

Responding to a parent's disdain for modern media (usually referred to in the singular) I confess that, like any other human institution, it's imperfect. A lot of what we read and see makes journalists ashamed or angry.

For one, chain ownership is a handy whipping boy, and sometimes it deserves flailing. Journalism schools are charged with upholding the ideal of robust debate amongst diverse voices, and sometimes that requires pointing the accusatory finger at dollar-driven management that treats employees and places as abstractions and capitalizes on monopoly status.

Strong corporate executives respect the role of our constructive criticism and don't expect us to trade integrity for donations.

To be fair, I don't think corporate ownership is the lone villain of American journalism. Too often, the public, in this age of prosperity and smugness, demands entertainment, rewards rumor-mongering and accepts shoddy and shallow reporting.

It's easy to describe what's awry, to get grouchy or indignant and thus to overlook what's right.

Parents often seemed shocked to hear me say that I believe that without the press (in whatever form) our nation wouldn't exist and that, however stained we who practice journalism are, ours is one of the higher callings in the democracy.

Moreover, I contend that if we continue to tinker with the First Amendment, by undercutting it with flag-burning or other regulatory legislation, we are letting more than the camel's nose into the tent.

The world I want parents to envision for their children is the one I want to see flourish for us all — one in which the press recognizes and reports the news to a public that will appreciate it; one in which media organize and present the news, in whatever format, with an eye toward credibility; and one in which journalists feel a sense of pride in what they are doing as professionals and as citizens of their communities.

That's heady idealism, all right, but we see it become a reality across the country, almost every day, in matters small and large, from city council coverage to free expression battles.

It's too bad that we don't recognize and command sound practice more often and that we take for granted our remarkable institution.

Obviously, we've seen enough tyranny in the 20th century to know that it thrives on repression, and we should occasionally shiver in fear that the light that sets people free will be extinguished.

We also should have the temerity to ask our shrillest critics to examine their safety, their income and their prospects and see how closely related these freedoms are to accurate and informed reporting by a free press.

In my bad dream, I and others in my line of work are crying these litanies in a national wilderness, but when I awake and look around, I'm more sanguine.

Those young people passing by in gowns and mortarboards, applauded by beaming if broke parents, are not antiquarians. They've been given a sound education and, let us hope, a time-less charge.

If they're lucky, they'll graduate into the hands of other teachers, working pros who know how to reinforce values, point the way forward and show that the work of journalism can be fulfilling and sometimes fun. That'll suffice, I think, as a passing of the torch.

(Dr. Jerry Brown, dean of the University of Montana School of Journalism, has pushed and prodded students in his journalism and English classes; he has written books, and he has worked as the editor of a weekly newspaper.)

Twenty-five-year reunion

In 1974, Ladner's Friendly Inn of Ansley sponsored the State Men's Softball Class A champions. Members of the squad included Jeep Ladner, team manger/player; Henry Bonney, Vic Green (deceased); O.V. Ladner, Jimmy Loiacano, Tommy Hayes, Mike Lee, Lonnie Ladner, Billy Taylor, Al Clark, assistant manager; Rickey Boyet, Randy Ladner, Shorty Karl, Henry Develle, Waymon Carr, Teddo Thomas, Walter Gagnon and Joey Bok. This weekend there was a team and family reunion at McLeod Water Park, Texas Flat Road. Friends were invited and asked to bring refreshments, Jeep Ladner reports. The team represented Mississippi in the National Softball Tournament held in Long Island, New York. The team compiled a season record of 103 wins and 19 losses. The team was undefeated in the Bay St. Louis league play for the season. The team was sponsored by the late August Ladner, pictured second row left.

State inventors to gather in Hattiesburg for Oct. 30 'Ideas to Dollars' Conference

Inventors from throughout the state will gather in Hattiesburg to learn from peers and professionals during the Oct. 30 Mississippi Inventor's Conference '99: "Ideas to Dollars."

The schedule includes sessions on everything from patent searching to rapid prototyping, workshops for the independent inventor and workshops for research professors and high technology firms.

The Saturday conference is scheduled for 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the University of Southern Mississippi (USM) Polymer Institute. Cost is $30 for advance registration, $35 at the door.

One of the primary sponsors is the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. Patent attorney Gregory M. Friedlander and patent agent George E. Stanford Jr. are among the workshop leaders. Other speakers include Andy Gibbs of the Patent Cafe, Mark Davis representing Invention City, Marcia Rorke of Mohawk Research Corporation and intellectual property attorneys with the firm Mayo McDavid PLLC.

Inventors are invited to display their products at no cost and share their success stories. A roundtable discussion led by successful inventors will offer networking opportunities.

The conference is presented by the Mississippi Small Business Development Center State Office, located at Ole Miss.

Additional sponsors include the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development, Mississippi Small Business Development Center, Pearl River Community College, SBDC, USM's Polymer Institute and Center for Community and Economic Development, Stennis Space Center, Mississippi Library Commission, Society of Mississippi Inventors, Mississippi Research Consortium, Mississippi Technology Extension Partnership, Area Development Partnership of Forrest County and others.

To register, arrange a display or learn more, call Bob Lantrip at the MSBDC at 800-725-7232 (within Mississippi) or 662-915-5001, or e-mail him at msbdc@olemiss.edu. Visit the conference web site at http://www.olemiss.edu/depts/msbdc/mississippi_inventors_conference.htm for the latest information on the conference.

Baymont Inn and Suites in Hattiesburg is offering an Inventors Conference room rate of $49 per night. For reservations, call 601-264-8380 and mention the inventors conference.

Potent round game key to Bay victory

BY MAURICE SINGLETON

Bay High used a potent rushing attack to outlast a tough Oak Grove team in the Tigers' 35-30 homecoming win on Friday night. The Tigers amassed 422 rushing yards on the night from five different runners.

Ronald Brown led the way with 189 yards on 16 carries, followed by Jason McKay with 122 yards on 16 carries, Ty Barrett with 73 yards on 15 carries, Willie Whavers with 27 yards on five carries, and Aaron Frommeyer with 13 yards on three carries.

The Tigers' potent rushing attack caused problems for the visitors all night.

The Tigers increased their lead to 35-24 with 1:20 remaining in the game, but the Warriors responded quickly with a 71-yard touchdown pass with :49 remaining, bringing the score to 35-30 after a failed two-point conversion. The ensuing outside kick went about a yard forward and made a 90-degree bounce and rolled to the sideline, giving the Tigers the opportunity to run out the clock.

"It looked like it was going to be a situation that the last team with the ball would win the game," said Tigers' Coach David Baughman. "I told our kids at halftime that if we let them (Warriors) score and get within seven points, it would be a dog fight."

"I think the turning point in the game was our last scoring drive," said Baughman.

That last Tigers' scoring drive followed a Warriors' score that made the score 28-24. Brown returned the ensuing kickoff eleven yards, giving the Tigers a first-and-ten at their own 27-yardline with 6:30 remaining in the game. The Tigers orchestrated their most impressive drive of the night, picking up three first downs and consuming five minutes and 10 seconds of game clock as McKay punched it in to extend the Tigers' lead to 35-24 with 1:20 to go.

Oak Grove scored first early in the first quarter following a Tigers' mistake -- a bad snap to Tigers' punter Timmy Wright. Wright was forced to run the ball to avoid the block, and the Warriors had their first gift of the night from the Tigers with a first and ten at the Bay High 30-yardline. Four plays later, the Warriors led 7-0.

The Tigers retaliated with an 80-yard drive, capped by a 21-yard run by Brown for the score. Wright's first of five successful point-after kicks tied the score at 7-7 at the 5:57 mark in the first quarter.

On their next offensive series, Ty Barrett was intercepted in Tigers territory, giving the visitors a first and ten twenty-four yards from a possible score, but again the Tigers' defense toughened and denied the Warriors a first down, forcing a punting situation.

Brown fielded the punt at his own 49-yardline, attacked the middle of the field and then dashed to the sideline, outrunning every white jersey for the 51-yard score at the 11:06 point in the second quarter.

An Oak Grove mistake led to the Tigers' next score. After the Warriors' defense held the Tigers to four snaps, an Oak Grove player made contact with the rolling punt and the Tigers' Terrace Thomas recovered the ball at the Oak Grove 21-yardline, giving the Tigers excellent field position with just under two minutes to go in the first half.

Whavers carried in from the two-yardline to give the Tigers a 21-7 lead with 1:03 to go in the half.

The Warriors threatened with a good kick-off return to near midfield and a subsequent drive to the Tigers three-yardline, but the drive ended scoreless, and the Tigers maintained their 21-7 lead at halftime.

The Tigers defense started the second half very similar to the way they played the first, holding the visitors to four snaps on the Warriors opening drive of the second half. And the Warriors' defense stepped up and did the same, holding the Tigers to four snaps, setting up a punting situation with the Tigers' punter Wright standing in his own end zone.

The less-than-perfect snap was mishandled and rolled freely in the Tigers' end zone before being recovered by a white jersey for a Warrior gift, bringing the score to 21-13 after the blocked point-after kick.

The Warriors' ensuing kickoff went out of bounds, and the Tigers had a first and ten at their own thirty-five yardline. The Tigers' ground game consumed just over six minutes as Ty Barrett capped the drive with two running plays, one to the left and the last a two-yard run behind the center for the score. The Tigers led 28-14.

On their next series, Oak Grove drove fifty-four yards, picking up two first downs, including a critical fourth-and-one situation before closing the scoring gap at 28-21 with a successful two-point conversion run at the 9:02 mark in the fourth quarter.

Barrett was intercepted deep in Tigers' territory on the next series and Oak Grove was in prime situation to tie the game with a first and goal at the Bay High eight yardline. But the Tigers' defense would not have it, holding the visitors to a field goal.

"We had some letdown in the second half in key situations," Coach Baughman said. "But overall the defense did a fine job tonight."

"I was really pleased with our running game tonight. Jason McKay did a real fine job running the ball for us tonight. Ty did a real fine job running the option."

"I was disappointed with our mistakes. We gave them (Oak Grove) some early confidence and momentum."

We can't make the mistakes we made tonight and beat a very good football team."

"We'll be facing a real good Wing-T attack this coming week (Petal). They are big and physical. We're going to work real hard on the Wing-T this week. We haven't had any luck over there. It's time to get that monkey off our backs."

The Tigers are now 4-2 on the season and 1-1 in District play as they face District opponent Petal on the road this coming Friday.

coach Rocky Gaudin.

The Hawks moved their record to 4-2 on the year, with a 2-0 record in the district. The Hawks will travel to Oak Grove next week.

Hawks shred Pearl River 32-12

BY DWAYNE BREMER

Gone are the condescending feelings that some people had of the 1999 Hancock Hawks after they started the season with a 1-2 record.

The Hawks are back, winning three straight games with the latest one coming Friday night as they buried rival Pearl River Central 32-12.

The Hawks were led by a tenacious defense, and the running of Chris Goff, who netted 194 yards on 25 carries. The Hawk offensive line of Jake Wilson, Josh Ladner, Joey Broome, Jeremy Necaise, Donnie Moran, and Cederick Acker opened big holes all night, and only allowed one sack to the Blue Devil defense. "We held our blocks pretty well, and played good as a unit. It felt great to dominate the game," Josh Ladner said.

The Hawk defense has allowed only two touchdowns in its last 14 quarters, and allowed only 166 yards of total offense to the explosive Blue Devils.

The defensive charge was led by David Seal who had 19 tackles, along with Oren Lewis and Andrew Hunt who had three sacks each. Gary Catalano added two interceptions for the Hawks. "We feel like this is the defense we can play. We are only getting scored on when we make a mistake, and we can get better," said Seal.

The Hawks would take their initial possession of the game at the Devil 45 after the defense forced a punt. Goff picked up four yards, then exploded up the middle for 21 yards and a first down to the 20. Trellony Mayfield picked up five yards, and Goff picked up another first down with two runs of three yards. After a defensive penalty, Mayfield got the call, and busted up the middle for a five yard touchdown. Les Sackett added the point-after and the Hawks had jumped out to a 7-0 lead.

The Devils would set up at the 15 after the kickoff. Seth

Smith hit Jason Bennett for a 21-yard pass and a first down. Smith then went to the air again, but the pass was picked off by Gary Catalano at the 46. Catalano brought the pass back 12 yards, and the Hawks had a first down at the Devil 34.

The Devils took over at the five, and Smith attempted to throw his way out.

As Smith dropped back, Lewis and Seal applied heavy pressure. Smith threw the ball away, and the officials called intentional grounding, awarding the Hawks a safety and two points. With 4:27 remaining in the first, the Hawks had a 9-0 lead.

The Devils would strike late in the half, as they drove 45 yards in the final minute to get on the board. Smith connected with Bennett for 16 yards to the Hawk one, and then Smith scored on a sneak. The Devils attempted a two point conversion, but Smith's pass was deflected by Roger Petticrew. With just :39 seconds in the half remaining the Hawks lead was cut to 16-6.

The Hawks would take over at the 35 after the kickoff. With just seconds remaining in the half, Goff got the carry in an attempt to run out the clock. Goff had other ideas, however, as he broke through the line and took off 65 yards for a Hawk touchdown. Sackett added the point after and the Hawks took a 23-6 lead into the half.

The second half started out with the Hawks taking the kickoff to the 34. Payne ran for 12 yards, then exploded up the middle for 28 yards to the Devil 31. Runs by Goff and Payne moved the ball to the 18, and a face-mask penalty gave the Hawks a first and goal at the nine. Disaster then hit, as Goff fumbled and Stockstill scooped up the ball and ran 93 yards down the sideline for a Devil touchdown. The point after was no good, but the Devils had inched back into the game 23-12.

The Hawks would make the Devils pay four plays later, as Goff took a sweep 17 yards for a touchdown. The point after failed, but the Hawks had a commanding 29-12 lead with 6:52 remaining.

Raymond Pucheu tipped the ball and Catalano intercepted it at the 45. Catalano returned the ball to the Devil 35, and the Hawks took over with 5:52 remaining.

The Hawks would pick up a first down, and with 1:59 Sackett came on to boot a 40 yard field goal to give the Hawks a 32-12 lead.

The Devils could not score on their final drive, and the Hawks enjoyed their third straight victory.

"I feel really good for our seniors, who had a chance to beat Pearl River three straight years. We have come a long way, and we are playing good ball right now," said Hawk head

Pirates fall 16-6 in Trojan battle

BY STEVE SMITH

The Pass Christian Pirates played host to the West Marion Trojans Friday night in an exciting contest between two evenly-matched teams. A determined West Marion effort led to a 16 to 6 victory for the visiting Trojans.

The Pirates won the toss and elected to receive, returning the opening kick-off to the 30-yardline. On first down Maurice Hardnett broke through the left side for 10 yards and a first down. First and second down yielded little gain and a third down sack of quarterback Kevin Woods forced the Pirates to punt.

West Marion's Sandy Collins, on his own 9-yardline, took in Kenny Peoples' fine punt and was smothered by Carl Bowser streaking down field. The Pirate defense stopped the Trojans on three downs and forced a punt, which the Carl Bowser returned to mid-field. Netting only three yards on two tries, Pass Christian's Kevin Woods was then sacked by West Marion's Corey Peyton. A fourth down punt was returned to the Pass Christian 40-yardline by Sandy Collins.

The Trojans gained 12 yards on a sweep to the left and had a first down on the Pirate 28-yardline, but the Pirate defense shut the Trojans down on the next series. Steven Jordan, Michael Ulrich and Joey King led the charge and West Marion chose to punt on fourth and sixteen.

The Pirate offense went to work at their own 10-yardline and on third-and-six, Woods completed a 35 yard pass to Lorenzo Ramsey for a first down on the Trojan 49-yardline. Woods made four yards on a keeper as time expired in the first quarter.

Rashaad Bowser carried for ten yards on second down, giving Pass Christian a first down on West Marion's 35-yardline. Kevin Woods then gained 23 yards on a sweep to the right. An offsides penalty on the Trojans gave the Pirates a first down-and-five at the seven yardline and a dive by Carl Bowser netted a first down at the two yardline. Kevin Woods scored on first and goal and the Pirates led 6 to 0, missing the extra point.

The Trojans returned the kick to the Pirate 43-yardline and gained 17 yards in first down. Aggressive defense by the Pirates forced a fumble, which Kenny Peoples recovered at the 26-yardline. Unable to mount a drive, Pass Christian had to punt and the Peoples got off another fine kick which Sandy Collins received at his 45-yardline. Carl Bowser and Joey King stopped him at mid-field and the Trojans drove from there to the Pirate ten yardline where they were forced to try a field goal. Myles Wagner broke through for the Pirates and blocked the kick, ending the Trojan threat. The Pirate offense sputtered and West Marion was able to move the ball into fieldgoal range again. Jonathon Plummer blocked the attempt and the Pirates took over at their own nine yardline just as the first half ended.

West Marion received the second half kick-off and the teams traded punts with the Trojans ending up with a first down at their own 28-yardline. From there, they drove the length of the field and scored on a fine run by fullback Jason Graham. Pass Christian was penalized half the distance to the goal on the point-after and the Trojans ran the ball in for two points, going ahead 8 to 6 with just under two minutes to play in the third quarter.

Forced to punt after three downs, a low snap caused Kenny Peoples to scramble and the Trojans tackled him in the endzone for a safety, making the score West Marion 10, Pass Christian 6.

The Pirates were unable to move the ball on their next possession and the Trojans mounted a final drive to score again late in the fourth quarter ending the scoring with West Marion winning 16 to 6. The Pirates travel to Green county October 8, have an open date the following week and celebrate their homecoming against Poplarville on October 22.

Mistakes key Rocks' 26-14 loss to Wildcats

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus Rock-chaws just couldn't seem to make the big play when they needed to and committed mistake after mistake against the Columbia Wildcats on Friday.

The Rocks were handed their second consecutive loss by a very opportunistic Wildcat football team by a score of 26-14. The two teams were tied 14-14 at intermission; however, some costly mistakes by the Rocks broke the game wide open for Columbia who moved to 5-0 overall and 2-0 in the division. The loss dropped the Rocks to 4-2 overall and 0-2 in the division.

SSC Head Coach Dave Kenson commented, "Mistakes. Mistakes. Mistakes. In the first half, our offense was moving the ball down the field and our defense was not doing a good job of tackling. However, in the second half, our defense made their adjustments and improved their play and the offense committed the mistakes."

"Next week, we play Pearl River Central up there. Once again, it will be a war. This district is not an easy one. Every team can play and win. PRC plays hard no matter what. We are going to have to play just as hard every down to have a chance to win the game."

The Rocks were held to minus 40 yards rushing in the second half. Despite gaining 263 yards through the air, the Rocks were intercepted four times.

Columbia took offense first and struck paydirt on their first possession. Junior quarterback Antoine Brown guided the Wildcats and their Notre Dame Box offense down the field before handing off to Jamaal Pittman. The sophomore running back took the pitch and went 38 yards for the game's first score.

SSC quarterback Jason Santiago wasted no time getting his groove through the air. He connected with Aaron Dunklin for a 23-yard gain and a first down on their first play of the game.

Santiago followed that play up with a 16-yard pass to Brandon Rayborn for another first down. Santiago kept the ball on two carries down to the Wildcat 25 yardline. From there, Kris Cannon rambled in for the score with 6:03 remaining in the first period. Charles Raymond connected on the PAT tying the score at 7-7.

The Rocks seemed to be in a groove on offense as Santiago found three different receivers and Cannon had a rush for 20 yards down to the Columbia nine yardline. On the next play, Santiago threw his first of four picks. Columbia returned the interception out to the Rock 46 yardline.

Again, the Rock defense came up with big plays to force the Wildcats to turn the ball over on downs.

SSC put together a nine-play drive on their next possession. Once again, Santiago spread the ball around to three different receivers. He hit Dunklin for eight yards, Rayborn for 21 yards, and Stephen Peterman for 10 yards.

Two plays later, the Rock signal caller found Rayborn wide-open for a 24-yard scoring completion. Raymond nailed the extra point and with 7:24 left in the first half the Rocks were up 14-7.

Brown led the Wildcats down the field and deep into Rock territory with the confusing Box offense. Brown kept the ball eight times on the drive. He capped off the drive with a two-yard plunge with 1:04 left to play in the half. Powell converted on the kick to make the score 14-14.

That was as close as SSC would get for the remainder of the contest. Santiago threw his second interception of the game as time ran out in the first half.

The Rocks were intercepted on their first play from scrimmage in the half by Tim White. He returned the pick nine yards for the score.

The Rocks again struggled on offense going three air out on the next possession.

The Wildcats kept the ball on the ground and pushed the pigskin down to the Rock 23 yardline. Brown capped the drive and scoring with a 23-yard pass to Chris Robbins in the endzone with 6:39 left to play in the third quarter. The two-point conversion was stopped by Matt Frost and Peterman who dropped Brown for a 17-yard loss on the free play. So, the score remained 26-14.

Santiago went back to the air hitting Dunklin for six yards and Grady Willis for 12 yards and a first down. He found Willis for another 11 yards and a first down to the Columbia 33 yardline.

Santiago gained another 19 yards when he hooked up with David Kellum at the Wildcat 18 yardline. However, on the next play Santiago was intercepted for the fourth time and the ball was returned to the Rock 34 yardline.

Later in the game, Santiago marched his troops down the field with precision passing on the next drive. He found Willis for a 12-yard gain. Next, it was to Cannon out of the backfield for a seven-yard pickup.

Later, he went back to Willis before a costly Rock penalty helped stop the drive. Santiago's final pass of the night fell incomplete on a fourth and long situation.

The Wildcats ran out the clock to preserve the win.

Santiago was 23 for 40 with 263 yards and one score through the air, while throwing four interceptions. The yards and interceptions were both all-time highs for Santiago.

The Rocks will take on the Pearl River Central Blue Devils next Friday, October 8.

Hancock County Field Day set Friday

BY LYNN BELL
SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

Learning can be fun when you are a fourth grader and get to go to a Conservation Education Field Day. For the 12th year, Hancock County Soil & Water Conservation District is sponsoring this program on Friday, October 8 at Buccaneer State Park to educate kids about protecting the environment in which they live.

Over 700 students will be participating from every school in Hancock County. This number has increased from last year and has grown every year the program has been presented.

Making this event happen in one day makes for a unique challenge and will result in the event becoming a two day event next year.

This is an indication of the growth of our county and why we need this kind of event to educate students about how fragile the environment is and what they can do to protect our world today as well as tomorrow.

Every student we teach will become an educated adult to help protect our environment in the future.

Educational stops will include learning on wetlands, wildlife, forestry, fire prevention, and recycling.

The recycling stop, which is taught by Hancock County master gardeners, includes education on how long it takes for roadside litter to decay.

The ugliest surprise is when a student discovers that a carelessly tossed aluminum can may take 200 to 500 years to decay.

The students also learn the consequences of plastic thrown into a ditch which makes its way into the Mississippi Sound and then on to the Gulf of Mexico where it is harmful to sea life.

Learning is reinforced with take-home materials such as a coloring book provided by Keep Mississippi Beautiful which features a character named KAL (Kids Against Litter).

KAL wants Mississippi to be litter-free by 2003 and encourages the student to make a contract with his future by pledging not to litter. KAL knows it is important to enforce, educate, and eliminate when it comes to litter.

Several agencies, businesses, and individual volunteers assisted with this program. Included are the Earth Team volunteers, USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service, Mississippi Forestry Commission, Hancock County Master Gardeners, Waveland Fire & Rescue, Special Wildlife and Fisheries assistant to Congressman Gene Taylor, the Soil & water Conservation Districts of Harrison, Stone, Jackson, Hancock counties, The Gulf of Mexico Program, Boss Hog's Cajun Cooking, Bay St. Louis Police Department, and Hancock County Soil & Water Conservation District employees.

Some of the businesses donating to the field day are Hancock Bank, Kiln; First National Bank, Picayune; Wal-Mart-Waveland; Compton Engineering, Bay St. Louis; Chamber of Commerce, Bay St. Louis; Keep America Beautiful; MDOT, U. S. Coast Guard, Washington, D. C. and Bayou Caddy Fisheries.

Local model heads to national show

Michelle DeFrait, a resident of Clermont Harbor, has been selected by national talent scouts to participate in the MB Model Expo (www.mbexpo.com) in Dallas, Texas on October 28-31. Michelle is a model with the Color Campus Agency in Biloxi. The MB Model Expo is an elite nationwide event attended by invitation only. A maximum of only 300 individuals of all ages are invited annually. At the Expo, models attend seminars, participate in fashion productions, and are interviewed by modeling agencies from around the world. The Expo is one of the premier events for promising young talent in the U.S. today. Michelle is being sponsored through the generosity of several local businesses as she prepares for this opportunity. Michelle is the daughter of Syd and Angie DeFrait of Clermont Harbor and attends St. Clare Elementary in Waveland.

Mississippi Teacher Fellowship Program enables teachers to attend graduate school

Last year, Brooklyn, New York native Keshia Broady spent a great deal of time combing web sites for information on graduate-level scholarships.

And when she came across the Mississippi Teacher Fellowship Program's site, she was immediately interested.

"I really wanted to get a master's degree in education, but I was searching for a way to pay for it," the 24-year-old said. "It's difficult coming up with the money."

After getting more information on the Mississippi Teacher Fellowship Program, Broady packed her bags and headed to Mississippi, where she first took undergraduate classes needed to secure teacher certification.

She is now teaching both English and social studies to seventh-graders at West Jasper School District's Bay Springs Middle School and in January, she is set to begin pursuing a graduate degree at the University of Southern Mississippi.

"I'm a first-year teacher and it's challenging, but I enjoy what I am doing," Broady said. "I've learned so much."

As part of the program, Broady and other fellows receive scholarships covering graduate-level tuition, books and fees. While in the program, teachers also are loaned a computer, which they own upon completion of their degree and teaching commitment.

To qualify, applicants must be certified teachers working in a designated critical shortage area and pursuing a master of education or educational specialist degree at a Mississippi school.

Participants who fail to complete the program are required to begin immediate repayment, with interest.

Teacher Fellowship Program fellows take part in a number of sessions designed to provide them with support for both their teaching efforts and academic pursuits.

In the fall, fellows participated in an orientation session, where they received detailed information on the program's requirements, as well as resources that are available.

During this session, participants also were trained to use their new computers to do research, send e-mail and participate in on-line chats with other fellows.

"You can receive a lot of support from the other fellows," said participant Bernard Jones, a kindergarten teacher at Marshall Elementary, located in the Carroll County School District.

"It's nice to be able to get online and communicate with others that are in the same position. You have a support network just because you are involved in this program. It's very well done."

The innovative program is in its second year and is one of the provisions found in the Mississippi Critical Teacher Shortage Act (House Bill 609), a package of teacher incentives and recruitment tools.

Seventy-five fellows have been selected to participate in the program, representing 32 districts. This year's fellows were announced at a press conference held recently at the Mississippi Department of Education's Central High School Building.

Fellows may attend one of 11 graduate schools - Alcorn State University, Belhaven College, Delta State University, Jackson State University, Mississippi College, Mississippi State University, Mississippi Valley State University, Mississippi University for Women, University of Mississippi, University of Southern Mississippi and William Carey College.

The program is a joint venture of Alcorn State University, Delta State University, Mississippi Valley State University and the University of Mississippi, with the University of Mississippi selected to serve as the program's administrator.

"The University of Mississippi agreed to administer this program," said program director Dr. Whitney Thompson.

"But we know it would not be a success without the support of all of the schools involved. We believe that over time, this program truly has the potential to dramatically ease the state's teacher shortage."

Lott presents award to Ashman

Senator Trent Lott presented GCA Realtor of the Year Sue Ashman with an award plaque.

Sue Ashman is the 1999 Realtor of the Year for the Gulf Coast Association. Ashman is the owner and broker of Ashman-Mollere Realty, Inc. in Waveland.

She has been licensed for more than 21 years and has been a member of the local, state and national associations since 1981.

Ashman has earned the ABR, CRS, and GRI designations, is a million dollar producer and member of the Lifetime Achievement Top Producer Round Table Club. She has served on and chaired numerous committees, including the Political Affairs Legislative Committee, and the Million Dollar Round Table Top Producer Committee.

Ashman has also served as director, secretary, vice president, and president of the Gulf Coast Association and currently is serving on the board of directors of the MS Gulf Coast Multiple Listing Service.

On the state and national levels Ashman has also been very active having served as a director for the State Association, attending numerous conventions, conferences and workshops.

However, Ashman still finds time to be very involved in civic affairs. She ran for alderman, served on the city zoning board, is a member of the Gulf Coast and Hancock County Chambers of Commerce, as well as many other social and civic organizations of which many hours of volunteer time is given each year while owning and managing a full real estate business that services clients with rentals, sales, and financing.

Sue Ashman is also a real estate developer currently in the process of developing lots for homes in the $70,000 to $120,000 price range, has designed, built and remodeled many homes here on the Coast over the past 25 years.

Groundbreaking ceremonies held for credit union facilities

Keesler Federal Credit Union held groundbreaking ceremonies for its new Orange Grove office. The new facility will be approximately 4300 square feet and will be located north of the existing Orange Grove branch.

W. Puckett and Company, Inc. is the contractor with Leonard A. Collins and Guild, Jaubert & Hardy Architects as the designing firm for the project. The branch opening is tentatively scheduled for the Summer of 2000.

Keesler Federal Credit Union is the largest credit union in Mississippi and serves over 137,000 members worldwide with total assets in excess of $530 million.

The credit union now has 10 branches along the Mississippi Gulf Coast and three branches on Royal Air Force bases in the United Kingdom.

Tax seminars set for state

Mississippi State University is again sponsoring a series of October and November seminars in Mississippi and Louisiana to update farmers and small business owners on current tax issues.

Each of the seven programs will address the 1998 and 1999 federal tax legislation, and significant issues and developments in federal taxation.

They also will review current federal tax events and provide basic information on selected farm and small business issues.

The day-long sessions are sponsored annually by the College of Business and Industry's Division of Business Services.

Seminar dates, registration deadlines and locations include:

Oct. 27-28, Oct. 8 deadline, Mississippi State's Bost Center Auditorium;

Nov. 16-17, Oct. 29 deadline, Raymond, Eagle Ridge Conference Center; and, Nov. 18-19, Nov. 1 deadline, Gulfport, Grand Casino Resort.

Participants for the Eagle Ridge and Grand Casino sessions may reserve overnight accommodations at special rates by indicating attendance at the seminars.

A $200 seminar registration fee covers materials, instructions and refreshments. Telephone reservations for the seminars will not be accepted.

timately operate."

Rear Admiral Eric Thorpe, Commander of the Naval Special Warfare Command, was one of the speakers at the ceremonies. He said re-establishment of the school became a priority of President Clinton since the closure of military facilities in Panama earlier this year resulted in the need for U.S. Special Operations Command to relocate the training site. The Navy had conducted small craft maintenance and riverine and coastal training for foreign military students at Naval Station Rodman in Panama since 1969 as part of the U.S. Security Assistance Program.

Foreign nationals from Panama, other Latin American and Caribbean nations will be sent to Stennis to learn the how-to's of managing, operating and maintaining small naval vessels. Students will learn everything from general seamanship, navigation and weapons operation and maintenance, to complete engine overhaul and repair. All weapon instructions will be conducted with blanks, according to the Navy's press release.

The school will be staffed by approximately 40 Navy personnel (five officers and 35 enlisted) offering six basic and four advanced courses. Classes will be taught in English and Spanish. The majority of courses will run eight weeks in length, but there will be a one week course, one two-week course and one four-week course.

Most of the students expected to enroll will be from Latin America and Caribbean Island nations, but Navy officials said there is the potential to expand enrollment to benefit other allied and friendly nations.

The school will be commanded by Lt. J.G. Commander Michael Lumpkin, who gave the keynote speech, and officially took over the command Friday.

Lumpkin said it was the joint effort of Congress, the Department of State, the U.S. Special Operations Command and the Naval Special Warfare Command "who had the vision of re-establishing NAVSIC-ATTS here on the Mississippi Coast. He praised "forward thinkers," such as U.S. Sens. Trent Lott and Thad Cochran.

Lumpkin also had high praise for Stennis officials and Navy personnel at Stennis who worked to build the temporary facility, Navy personnel and all along the coast, and area residents for marking the new Command feel welcome in Hancock County.

The first class is not scheduled to begin at the school until January, but Lumpkin said a group of his instructors and personnel from Boat Units 12 and 22 returned only yesterday from conducting 10 days of instruction of local Coast Guard personnel from Grenada and St. Vincent. "They were out executing the mission tasking, as well as dodging Hurricane Floyd," said Lumpkin.

But, Lumpkin said, it is the anticipated arrival of the students, which keeps his team focused.

"It is these professional military and law enforcement personnel who are tasked with missions ranging from drug interdiction to preventing the poaching of endangered and protected wildlife within their borders who are the reason we have all come together," said Lumpkin.

from the KSI Building to Texas at Road to help lure a still-identified prospect who "alters said wants to locate at the airport.

Thursday was the last day of the county's fiscal year, and supervisors amended last year's budget to reflect actual spending.

Ken Hurt, the county's chief juvenile Detention Officer, gained permission from supervisors to open negotiations with Forrest County "and other facilities along the coast," to see what they might charge to temporarily house the county's juvenile offenders.

Hurt said, in his initial contacts with Forrest County, officials there indicated the county might be able to pay a lump sum up front, and Forrest

County would guarantee that at least one bed would be available for Hancock's juveniles.

Hurt said the county had two juveniles at the Forrest County facility, presently, and is paying $75 a day for their keep. He said the rate might go down, if the county's can engage in a long term arrangement.

In other business:

•County Attorney Gerald

Gex reported that the U.S. justice Department had no problem with plans to put the landfill question on the November general election ballot;

•Because County Fire Marshal Richard Pate is out ill, supervisors asked County Administrator and assistant Jenell Thompkins to temporarily take over his duties as inventory clerk of county equipment.

covenants, the roads would be private, and the county has no control over the roads or the amount of gasoline stored by residents.

The proposed development is outside the White Cypress Lakes Community, so their covenants could not restrict its growth.

Gill said he envisions a development of upscale homes costing as much as $300,000, and he had some people already lined up to purchase the lots.

He complained the delays are costing us time and money."

A number of White Cypress residents were present in the supervisors meeting room, but after setting the public hearing, Board President Philip Moran suggested they wait to make their comments at the Oct. 11 hearing.

But, District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman said a spokesman should be allowed to speak, since they had been sitting in the meeting most of the morning.

Rick Cagle, head of the White Cypress Lakes Property Owners Association and a resident of the community for 15 years, said 50 residents have signed a petition opposed to the Mint Julip development.

"We feel our peace and tranquility will be basically destroyed," Cagle said.

The stage is now set for a final showdown over the development. At the Oct. 11 meeting, supervisors can override the Planning Commission's decision and allow the development to proceed. If they don't, Gill can go to Circuit Court to seek relief.

And, if the development is approved, opposing citizens can also file suit in Circuit Court to stop it.

discrimination and harassment.

In count one, plaintiff alleges that she has been denied equal employment opportunity for job promotions with an appropriate salary increase by the defendants solely because of her sex.

It alleges Gauthreaux was further discriminated against as defendants, "Sid Davis, Richard Klimkiewicz and Herman Johnson uttered offensive insults concerning the plaintiff in a public meeting, in her presence, and to other individuals."

Count two alleges retaliation.

"Due to the defendants' wrongful acts, plaintiff became increasingly dissatisfied with her job and resigned," the suit says. "The plaintiff was subsequently rehired and returned to work on April 12, 1999, after being assured that the discriminatory behavior would cease."

The suit alleges that after returned, Gauthreaux (Commissioner)" Herman Johnson has taken measures in retaliation against the plaintiff for complaining about the discrimination."

The plaintiff accuses Johnson of soliciting individuals "to frame the plaintiff for embezzlement and of sending (her) offensive literature."

Count three alleges the District and the three defendants discriminated against Gauthreaux "by creating a hostile work environment because of plaintiff's gender," and that the District should have known of defendants' conduct.

Count four alleges that Gauthreaux suffered extreme emotional distress, due to the "intentional or reckless conduct of the defendants," and count five asserts that the District (or Board of Supervisors) was negligent in hiring and later in the supervision of the defendants, although the law which allows supervisors to create Boards and Commissions clearly states that each agency is responsible for its own conduct and decisions.

Count six alleges negligence per se, claiming the District allowed for "a hostile work environment," and that subsequently the plaintiff suffered "severe emotional distress, mental anguish, indignation, wounded pride, shame and despair."

The suit asks the federal court to assume jurisdiction over the case. It alleges, "The plaintiff has suffered loss of time and expenses, including attorneys fees, and asks for punitive and compensatory damages, as determined by a trial."

A place called Hope

Hope Haven: Still going strong three years later

BY TERRY LATHAM

You wake up. Get out of bed. Make coffee. Read the newspaper. Get dressed. Get in the car and drive to work. And on the way you wonder if you will "earn" the $600 dollars you need to pay your bills for that day.

And the only way you can "earn" the money is to ask other people to give it to you. That's what I, as director of Hope Haven has done almost every day of the year for the last three years.

Managing a non-profit is the most challenging thing I have ever done. It can be "fun" when things are "cooking" and people are interested in helping and letters and donations come rolling in.

It can be depressing when you see people's eyes glaze over as you try to tell them how much help our children need. And when you go to the mailbox day after day and the box is bare it's downright scary.

My responsibility toward the children we serve is never ending. I also feel responsible for the 13 full- and part-time care givers. If we don't bring in that level of donations then their jobs are in jeopardy. I also feel responsible to every single person who has ever donated money or time or merchandise to Hope Haven. They contribute because they feel that the children need their help and it is my responsibility to ensure that every contribution is accounted for and that every cent collected is spent wisely.

Where does the money come from?

$600 a day adds up to $220,000 a year! "We do have some 'major' contributors. The county provides $40,000 per year, the City of Bay St. Louis donated $20,000 and this year, thanks to the new Mayor and our friends on the city council, the city of Waveland will contribute $5,000.

However, the funds from the county and the cities are not hard money...we have to ask for support every year and that support is not guaranteed. We also receive about $65,000 a year from the state for "board payments." That's $130,000, which leaves $90,000 we have to raise from other sources.

Who gives?

The Br  t F  vr   Foundation has been very good to us the last two years, donating $20,000 both years and we hope they will continue to support us.

We have just been accepted as a member of the United Way and we hope to get a steady contribution from them. The remainder of the money comes from a variety of sources.

We hold fund raisers and other organizations and clubs do fund raisers for our benefit. We have a small but vital membership base with some members donating $12 per year and some donating $1,500 per year.

We have many local civic groups, youth organizations, churches, businesses and corporations who raise money or donate in different ways.

Some donate supplies or food or gift certificates and some Members of the Diamondhead Womens' Club will present "A Bit of Broadway" this Friday and Saturday, Oct. 8 and 9, beginning at 7:30 p.m. both nights at the Diamondhead Country Club. Proceeds will be used to benefit the Hope Haven children's shelter. For tickets, call 255-4458 or 255-2606.

donate cash. We have several "collection containers" out and they bring in a small but steady source of income.

We also hold raffles on donated items like hand-made quilts from the quilting club or hand-made rugs from Carpet Creations.

Just recently, Jon Ritten, Coast Delta Realty donated their old office furniture to us to use/sell. DreamWeavers Foundation for children and Alpha Delta Kappa sorority donated school supplies for the children and local schools will collect cleaning supplies for us during the Red Ribbon Week in October.

Another "stable" source of money comes from Diamondhead Supermarket via our "Angels" at Diamondhead Community Church.

The "Angels" collect grocery receipts and turn them in and the supermarket contributes one percent of the total. Diamondhead Supermarket is also a regular contributor of canned and frozen goods.

Many people ask about the casinos. We do get some help from them. Casino Magic Bay St. Louis hosts our fund-raising events for free which saves us thousands of dollars. They also contribute food to us.

Grand Casino has donated funds and most recently,

Boomtown Casino donated over $1,000.

We draw considerable support from the listeners of the wonderful Christian radio station "WAOY". Just last month, a couple from Diamondhead gave us a "new" van to replace our worn out Aerostar, and when they visited the shelter, they volunteered to mow the lawn for us!

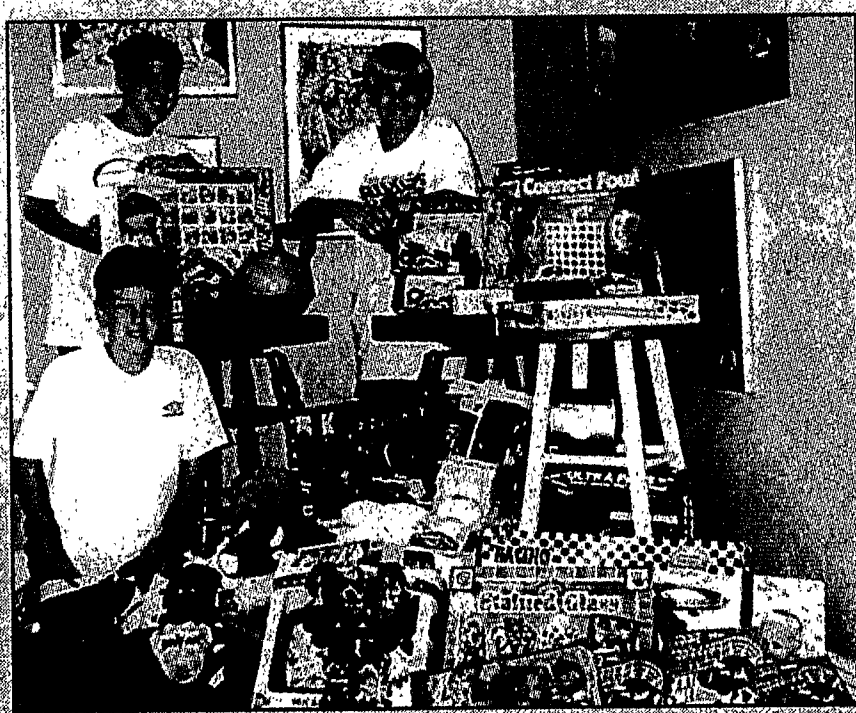

A new woman's group out at Stennis just "adopted" us and we even have a candy man who donates part of the money from his vending machines to us.

We make a small but steady income from selling the wonderful "Bay St. Louis Afghans" whose design was so kindly donated by the Gonzales family. High school baseball players raised over $6,000 for us by getting sponsor for each hit they got.

Then we have people like Monti Electric who won't take a dime from us when we need a new porch light, and Armand the owner of Armand's restaurant who has been a staunch supporter, and Wellman who not only gives money but threw a management Christmas party, but instead of exchanging gifts they bought gifts for the kids in the shelter.

The Sea Wolves and Treasure Bay joined together and

Hancock kids donate birthday presents to help abused children

BY TERRY LATHAM

Try taking birthday gifts away from an "average" 12-year-old boy, and you might have an argument on your hands.

Imagine trying to take birthday gifts away from three 12-year-old boys. Now imagine three twelve-year-old boys volunteering to give up their birthday gifts and donate them to less fortunate children.

That is exactly what happened last week. Kody Cannon, Eric Cranford and Austin Ladner all celebrated their 12th birthday last week, and instead of collecting gifts for themselves, they had all of their friends and relatives buy gifts for children who are staying in Hope Haven Shelter due to being abused or neglected.

Kody's mom, Julie came to the Hope Haven office with five large lawn bags of gifts, suitable for all ages on Tuesday. She explained that the three boys felt that they had plenty of toys and that they felt that the children staying in Hope Haven needed toys more than they did.

The families of all three boys are very proud of their respective son's generosity and thoughtfulness.

"I am impressed with the character of these young men" says the Hope Haven director.

"At a time when adults are worried about the character and substance of our young people, these three boys remind us that most of our young people are good and can contribute to our community and society if they are allowed to."

The gifts were put to good use immediately. Three "very frightened" children had just entered the shelter. The Hope Haven staff selected several toys for the three new children and the three other children in the house and placed

We must protect 'The Marshes Around Us'

(Editors Note: This column and the Sunday columns that follow maintains the theme of the book, Views From a Front Porch, by Paul Estronza La Violette published by Annabelle Publishing and available locally at Bookends Bookstore, 111 Hwy 90, Bay St. Louis.)

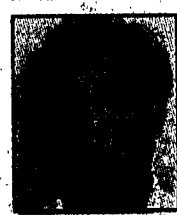

I like living here.

I thought of this the other day when my wife, Stella, and I drove along Beach Boulevard in the Bay north of Highway 90. It was one of those beautifully crystal-clear autumn days; the crisp air giving a hint of the cold that was to come in a few weeks.

When we turned just north of the little triangle area at Second Street, we found ourselves gazing at a stretch of marsh that neither of us had noticed before. It was the perfect time of both day and year to see it, the sun at the right angle and the clear air giving it a crisp look that is often flattened by the summer's heat and moisture. The marsh lay spread before us, its grasses invigorated by recent rains and the cool weather. The clean sweep of the bright yellow grass of the marsh butted against the dark trees along the shore. Flowing through it all were the brown waters of a small narrow bayou.

A brilliantly blue sky sharpened the scene, accenting, rather than diminishing, the soft pastel colors. It was a delight to see.

We on the coast are lucky to have so many places such as this around us. We find them in sudden opening on roads in Waveland, in the Bay, and over in the Pass. Unfortunately, we normally go by these scenes too rapidly to properly digest their beauty. We hurry, attending to the errands of daily living and in doing so, pass by scenes of vice to protecting this beauty. Too often our attitude changes when that protection involves our own land. Land we want filled or bolstered for a dock or that borders a tidal pond "clogged with weeds". Our attitudes change when some stretch of wetland is on land we want to cover with closely-mowed grass and planted shrubs.

I found this happening to a tidal pond that faces the beach a short distance from my house last week. In one day, heavy equipment turned a beautiful wildlife habitat that I had admired for years into something that, when the grass lawn becomes established, will more resemble an English deer park than a Mississippi coastal pond.

I was deeply saddened by this. I first discovered this pond twenty-two years ago when we first moved into our new beach house. Gretal, the weimaraner hound we had then, had strayed and I went looking for her. As I passed the large two-story brick house next to the pond, I was told by the owner that the dog had gone into the pond. Sure enough, Gretal was in there and I coaxed her out of the water, wet and muddy. Holding her by the collar, I looked around in wonder. Deep in the brush as I was, I could see more than I could from the beach road. In front of me was a small island with a tall white egret sitting regally in a large tree, posed as if for a picture. Mullet were jumping in the pond around me, indicating the pond's tidal connection, and two turtles basked on a log projecting from the

Cooking up a good deal for Hope Haven

"The Pampered Chef" and the Diamondhead Women's Club have joined hands to raise money for Hope Haven Children's Shelter.

They will be selling unique cookbooks entitled "The Kitchen is the Heart of the Home."

The cookbooks will be available from members of the women's club or their president, Becky Jordan, 255-4458.

A small supply of the award-winning cookbooks will also be on sale at Carole's Olde Towne Restaurant on Main Street.

Individuals may also obtain the cookbook directly from Sarah Wittenberg, the local Pampered Chef consultant by calling 255-9960 or from the Hope Haven office in the Youth Court Building on Court Street in Bay St. Louis.

Mary Carpenter, president of the Hope Haven board, praised both "The Pampered Chef" organization and the Diamondhead Women's Club for their dedication.

"The Diamondhead Women's Club has been there for Hope Haven since day one, and we are so lucky to have such a fine organization in our community. We are also grateful to Sara and "The Pampered Chef" organization."

The Diamondhead Women's Club will be staging an additional fund raiser that will benefit the local children's shelter and another charity Oct. 8 and 9 when they bring "A Bit of Broadway" musical review to the Diamondhead County Club.

Tickets are available from Women's Club members and LL Ltd. Fashions in Diamondhead or at the door. Ticket prices are $10 for adults and $5 for children under 12.

Poems wanted for new national contest

Poems are now being accepted for entry in Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum's new Poetic Achievement Awards poetry contest.

Cash prizes totaling $1,000 will be awarded, including a $500 grand prize. The contest is free to enter.

Poets may enter one poem only, 20 lines or fewer, on any subject, in any style. Contest closes November 30, but poets are encouraged to send their work as soon as possible.

Poems entered in the contest also will be considered for publication in the Summer 2000 edition of Treasured Poems of America, a hardcover anthology to be published in June 2000.

Anthology purchase may be required to ensure publication, but is not required to enter or win the contest. Prize winners will be announced on January 31, 2000.

"Poetry is more popular than ever," says Jerome P. Welch, publisher. "Our contest offers a public forum for new poets that allows them to share their work. And we reward all the new poets that we publish with a special gift of a year's subscription to the popular and informative Sparrowgrass Poetry Newsletter. We welcome poetry of all styles and themes. Many of our contest winners are new poets with new ideas."

Poem should be sent to Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum, Dept. J, 609 Main St., P.O. Box 193, Sistersville, WV 26175.

Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum has sponsored poetry contests for over 12 years.

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

Burnside-Ryan

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Bryan Burnside III

Julia Allison Ryan of Pass Christian and Norris Bryan Burnside III of Meridian were united in marriage August 14, 1999 in St. Paul Catholic Church in Pass Christian with Father Mike O'Brien and Father Ron Herzog concelebrating.

Music was provided by soloist Erica Lizana, organist Joy Mehrrens, pianist Judy D'Angelo and the St. Paul's choir.

The bride is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Michael J. Ryan of Pass Christian, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Norris B. Burnside of Meridian.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Maid of honor was Erica Lizana, and bridesmaids were Beth Thompson and Kim Burnside.

Flower girl was Averie Collier.

Best man was Trent Jones, and groomsmen were Bruce Laird and Michael Ryan. Ushers were Randy Skipper and Brant Ryan.

A reception followed the ceremony at West Harrison County Civic Center.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Norris and Barbara Burnside at Landry's Seafood Restaurant in Biloxi.

After a honeymoon in Grand Lido Sans Souci in Ocho Rios, Jamaica, the couple will reside in Starkville.

Kerr-Neyland

Theresa Kerr and Jeffrey Neyland

Charles M. (Donald) and Carol Kerr of Waveland announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Theresa Helen Kerr, to Jeffrey Allen Neyland, son of Raymond and Laverne Neyland of Weatherby, Texas.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Ruston High School in Louisiana and earned a bachelor of arts degree from Newcomb College of Tulane University and a master of business administration degree from University of Texas, Austin. She is employed with Cambridge Group in Dallas.

Grandparents of the bride are Eleanor Morris of Waveland and the late Frank Morris.

The prospective groom is a Suharo High School graduate, Tucson, Ariz. and holds a bachelor of science degree from the University of Arizona. He is vice-president of Centex Construction, Dallas. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Neyland and Mr. and Mrs. Musslewhite.

The wedding will take place October 23, 1999 at 4:30 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents in Waveland.

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

Carter-Morel

Mrs. Mark Blackledge Carter

Annette Lynn Morel and Mark Blackledge Carter were united in marriage July 30, 1999 in an evening ceremony at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis with Father Dennis Carver officiating. Music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. John Gerbrecht and Mr. and Mrs. Greg Dupre.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William LeBlanc of Bay St. Louis and the late Louis Morel III.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Gibson Carter and the late Amanda Carter.

The bride was given in marriage by her stepfather.

For the occasion she selected a formal gown of natural silk in a sleeveless empire style with scoop neckline. The bodice was accented with an embroidered scroll motif. The princess flared skirt featured a natural hemline and tiny buttons cascaded down the back bodice above a train that extended to a chapel sweep.

Maid of honor was Lesli Morel, sister of the bride.

Flower girls were Allie Carter, niece of the groom, and Emily McGinity, cousin of the bride. Ring bearer was Andrew McGinity, cousin of the bride.

Best man was G. J. Carter, brother of the groom.

Ushers included Terry McGinity, uncle of the bride, Bryan Blackledge and Daniel Blackledge, cousins of the groom.

A reception followed the ceremony in Our Lady of the Gulf Community Center.

The couple resides in Oxford, Miss., attending Ole Miss.

LaFontaine-Lott

Mr. and Mrs. Allan LaFontaine of Long Beach announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Angie Nicole LaFontaine, to William Douglas Lott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Lott of Hattiesburg.

The bride-elect is a 1994 Long Beach High School graduate and is presently attending the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg.

She is employed with State Farm Insurance in Petal.

The prospective groom is a 1992 graduate of Sumrall High School and attended Jones County Junior College. He is employed with TCS, Inc. of Hattiesburg.

The marriage will take place Oct. 23, 1999 at 7:30 p.m. in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. A reception will follow at Our Lady of the Gulf Community Center in Bay St. Louis.

Walk underscores a growing problem

Twelve staff members from The Kare Centre, the Gulf Coast's only safe and secure memory support center, participated in the recent 10th Annual Memory Walk to raise money for the South Mississippi Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association and to increase awareness of the prevalence of Alzheimer's Disease and related memory impairments in South Mississippi.

The South Mississippi Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association encompasses 15 counties, which includes Jefferson Davis, Covington, Jones, Wayne, Marion, Lamar, Forrest, Perry, Greene, Pearl River, Stone, George, Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties.

The association's estimates indicate that nearly 10,000 citizens in these counties have Alzheimer's disease or a related memory disorder, with more than 2,200 living in Harrison County.

Statewide, an estimated 42,000 have some sort of Alzheimer's Disease or dementia.

Despite significant advances in medical technology, no means of prevention or cure for the disease has been discovered.

It is the fourth leading cause of death among adults, with approximately 10 percent of 65+ adults affected.

Hope -- Haven needs help raised over $8,000 for us by auctioning off jerseys, and Outback Steak House springs for free lunches to help us raise money.

Over 100 local businesses donated something for us to auction off at our annual fundraiser. In addition, every now and then we get a check from $500 to $2,000 from people who do not even want a tax credit receipt. Indeed, it does take a village to raise a child.

We spent more than we took in last year, and it will be very close again this year. But as long as we raise enough to keep the doors open, the kids safe, our care-givers paid and the spirit alive, I'm happy.

In addition to our annual operating expenses, we have been trying to raise an additional $200,000 to build a new shelter.

A new shelter would allow us to serve more children, be safer and allow us to use volunteers to a greater extent than we can now.

Our tiny 960-square-foot home has provided a place of safety for more than 500 children, but it is "on its last leg."

We raised over $4,000 from an appeal to Diamondhead. Also, the Diamondhead Woman's Club has raised thousands of dollars for us in the past and are putting on another fund raiser for us in October.

Terri Downie raised many thousands more for us through her annual golf tournament in Diamondhead, and the annual tennis tournament hosted by the Kiwanis in Diamondhead brings in another $3,000 every year.

Where does the money go?

State law mandates that use all paid staff to care for the children -- not volunteers. We can only use volunteers in addition to the paid staff. We must have a shelter manager, assistant shelter manager and a social worker. Our assistant shelter manager does most of the shopping and anything else I can't do myself. Doing the math, we have to pay for over 20,000 hours of direct care per year.

plus overtime and holiday pay. We pay an average of $5.75 per hour, which means that our salary costs are about $125,000 per year.

We have one administrative position and myself. Total salary costs, including taxes, etc. comes to around $165,000 per year.

The remaining money, $55,000, goes for food, (we serve over 20,000 individual meals and snacks per year, cleaning and general supplies, school supplies, personal care items for the children, clothing and toys for the children, outings, electricity, telephone, rent on storage units (for food etc.), insurance...our insurance bill is $7,000 per year), automobile expenses, office supplies and maintenance on the house. Money goes out faster than it comes in.

The children

We can't release names or personal information on the children due to the existing laws. Unfortunately, those same laws "hide" what is happening in our society, our county our neighborhoods to our children.

These children's circumstances...their lives...are reduced to cold hard statistics on an end of year report somewhere.

Most people do not wish to hear the "details" or the "specifics" of what has happened to the children who come to Hope Haven.

Telling people how a nine-year-old girl has been the victim of sexual assault by family members for the last three years or about the little boy whose parents held a lighter under his armpits to punish him doesn't make for pleasant lunchtime conversation.

Trying to explain the look in a 14-year-old's eyes when she sits and tells us that she has been in care for eight years, has been moved 15 times, is behind two years in school due to her moving, has lost all of her personal belongings in the moves and doesn't know where her three brothers and sisters are...it just doesn't play.

The staff at Hope Haven deals with the sorrow and tragedy and hopelessness and frequently the anger of children who have been treated like an empty soda can being kicked down the street. These children are not who our "emergency shelter" is ideally set up for, but there are so few other placements available for them that we have to take them.

Sometimes providing a safe place for them to stay is all we accomplish.

Kids need and want the same things no matter what their background has been. Security, acceptance, stability, love, discipline...these things are unchanging in a changing world.

Where we shine is taking care of children who have been traumatized and need immediate love, reassurance, and a safe place to sleep and nourishing meals.

The future.

A new shelter must be part of the future. The numbers of children picked up for abuse and neglect continue to rise. Mississippi ranks number one or two on all the National "BAD LISTS," such as number of teen pregnancies, number of single parents, number of teens dropping out of school, etc.

We are at the bottom of the Nation on the amount of money spent on education, on health care for children, on childcare, etc.

Hope Haven turned away more than 150 children last year because we had no room for them. Over 300 children need a safe placement every day in the three-county area, (Hancock Harrison and Jackson.) There are only 40 shelter beds available for them.

Children are caught in the "system" for years and often end up being moved from place to place. We want to include a 12-bed long-term home for local children so they can remain in one place.

Our new shelter will also enable us to take in teen mothers with their babies so we can start breaking the cycle of abuse immediately and teach them how to be good mothers.

We will also be able to accept special needs children -- children that most shelters do not accept. A larger shelter will also allow us to use our volunteers to a greater extent. And it will provide a much safer place for the children to stay.

We don't spend money on expensive office equipment or furnishings; we don't spend money on "conferences" and out-of-town trips to visit other shelters or slick mail-outs every month.

Every cent of our money goes to benefit the children we serve in one way or the other.

You can help by doing a fund raiser at your business, church or social club. By becoming a member of Hope Haven (you get a certificate!), by donating food, by donating clothing in our name to the local Goodwill Store, by donating items such as cars, boats, land, etc. for us to sell or selling them yourself and sending a little of the money to Hope Haven, by remembering us in your will or deeding us stocks and bonds that will provide long-term stability to us.

To those of you who have helped us in the past or are helping us now, you have made a difference in the lives of local children. Because you have been there for us, we have been there for the children.

Children, who have been raped, beaten, starved in body and in spirit don't stay children forever. They soon grow into your neighbor, the kid your kid will date or your grandchild will marry.

They may become the mother or father of a child in your family.

In my three years with Hope Haven, I have seen lots of good people step up to the plate and swing for us, but there are many more people out there who don't care or don't know about us, and we need everyone to care, and we need everyone to stand up and fight against child abuse and neglect.

Think about it.

La Violette -- Marshes

water. All around me were the muted noises of a wetland in full use.

When I came back out, I found Lister, the owner of the brick house, waiting for me with a water hose. Together, we washed the mud off of Gretal and he told me the story of his house and the pond. He said that in the very early 1800's, the pond and original house on the property were reputed to have been used as a storage area for smuggled goods by a cohort of Jean Lafitte, the pirate. For years, this large sprawling wooden house was called the "Pirate House" and postcards with its picture were sold in the local shops.

Hurricane Camille in 1969 demolished any trace of the wooden structure, throwing much of the debris into the pond. Lister rebuilt using only the bricks that formed the storerooms in the cellars of the house. After clearing the pond of debris, he let it return to its natural state as a wildlife preserve. For want of a name, the locals referred to the pond as Lister's Pond.

As the years passed, I had to fetch Gretal many times from the pond and the area behind it in which Lister kept several Shetland ponies. I would go after Gretal and she would come back with me, running in large circles down to the pond's edge. Mrs. Lister used to call Gretal up to her kitchen and feed her Belgian chocolates. When I would come to get Gretal, she would tell me of the ghost that lived in the new house. From her second story window, I could see the pond in the late shadows of the setting sun. To me it epitomized the coastal marshes in which I had worked as a young man.

Somehow, I thought it would always be as I saw it then. I was wrong.

Mrs. Lister died and Lister remarried. As time passed both he and his new wife died and the heir broke the property into two parts, selling the house separately from a larger parcel of land that contained the pond. A wealthy New Orleans family bought the land with the pond and, combining it with some adjacent property, built a weekend compound.

Early on the morning of 21 October, large trucks carrying earth-moving equipment parked on the compound grounds. Within the hour, to the surprise of the Waveland city council, and neighbors (including myself), the destruction of the habitat began.

In investigating what had occurred to allow this, I was told that the New Orleans owners had approached the Corp of Engineers with the offer to swap a parcel of wetland in Pascagoula for the wetland rights to Lister's Pond. The Corp agreed.

We locals were faced with a fait accompli. I was told nothing could be done. The New Orleans owners had apparently crossed all the right "Ts" and dotted all the right "Is".

I went over to look at the scene yesterday. Lister's Pond, as I knew it, is gone. The small island is as it was, but more exposed and the seclusion that much of the wildlife need to breed is gone. There is little left of the protective shoreline brush that bordered the pond. The scanty shrubbery along the island shoreline, representing less than a twentieth of the pond's overall shoreline will be all that's left. Soon, the local ecological fauna that depended on this small marsh/pond will find the area is no longer viable and die out. And, since the pond will no longer function as a breeding place of essential fauna, our local fisheries will be effected.

Look around. Slowly, but surely, the amount of these wetlands in Waveland, in the Bay, and in the Pass will diminish to the point where it can no longer maintain the regions rich fauna as we know it today. When these resources disappear, the unique wonder of what we see around us today will go with it. Be careful. Perhaps that marsh area, Stella and I found so movingly beautiful near Second Street will be gone next year. If not next year, perhaps the year after that.

Think about it.

Jane Amos knew that she had to lose a lot of weight to find herself again. But more than that, to save her life. Like so many, she tried countless diets and medications. Their failure led to her depression and her fear of heart attack and stroke. Then Jane discovered the "Live Light" Surgical Weight Loss Program at Gulf Coast Medical Center. As part of the Weight Management Center, "Live Light" has helped Jane live a more active life. And if you ask us, it's a lifestyle that fits her quite nicely.

This testimonial reflects the results achieved by this patient. As each case is different and must be independently evaluated and managed, weight loss will vary.

Millsaps named a
'Best College Buy'

Edward B. Fiske, former education editor for the New York Times and author of The Fiske Guide to Colleges, has released his list of "Best Buy" colleges and universities for 2000.

Millsaps is one of only 20 private institutions from across the country named to the list. Millsaps has been selected for the guide every year since its inception in 1980, and no other Mississippi institutions have ever been included in the guide.

The Fiske Guide to Colleges praises the qualities that make Millsaps an excellent investment: The sense of community on campus among the students and between the students and the faculty; the quality of the professors both in the classroom and in the professional academic world; and the presence of Southern tradition coupled with a comprehensive consideration of the entire Western world.

For more than a decade, The Fiske Guide to Colleges has featured an Index by Price that groups public and private institutions into four price categories, from Inexpensive to Very Expensive. Taking this concept one step further, Fiske and his team of experts have combined the cost data with academic information about each college and university to come up with institutions that offer remarkable educational opportunities at a relatively modest cost.

Fiske argues that when choosing a higher learning institution, price and quality do not always go hand in hand. With a bit of comparison shopping, bargains can be found in quality higher education.

Millsaps has received praise for its value and quality from other national publications as well.

Among national liberal arts colleges, Millsaps ranks in the top half overall and is 3rd in value according to U.S. News & World Report (Aug. 1999).

The College also ranks 69th among the nation's 1600 private colleges in Kiplinger's Personal Finance Magazine (Aug. 1999).

The only national liberal arts college in Mississippi, Millsaps is a privately supported college founded in 1890 and affiliated with the United Methodist Church.

Millsaps is one of only four liberal arts colleges in the U.S. to hold both a Phi Beta Kappa chapter and accreditation by AACSB-The International Association for Management Education of its undergraduate and graduate business programs.

Nino & Diana Wilson

Wilson's Health & Nutrition, owned and operated by Nino and Diane Wilson, has two locations, one in Diamondhead and one new location in Pass Christian.

Wilson's Health & Nutrition offers herbal supplements for better health, weight loss, and longevity. "All of our products are standardized, safety and quality assured and have been reviewed by a Board Certified Toxicologist and Physician to ensure product safety when used as directed. We are so sure that you will experience the results you desire from our products, that we offer a money-back guarantee. If you're not satisfied with your purchase simply return the package within 30 days of original order for a full refund or trade of your choice," states Diana.

Nino and Diana have been married for nine years and have three small children. They have been in the herbal supplement business for four years and have experienced some amazing results of their own. Diana has lost over 120 pounds and Nino has lost 50 pounds and have kept it off! Diana also had a bout with cervical cancer and is now 100% recovered without any type of surgery or drugs other than the natural products she promotes. Their eight year old son suffers from Attention Hyper Deficit Disorder and has never taken any harsh drugs but only takes their 100% natural Herbal Products and now you would never know he has this illness. Nino has suffered for several years with severe heart burn and reflux and now has no symptoms while taking these natural products. Diana says that there are occasions when her children have seen a doctor however, once they are diagnosed she knows what herbal supplements to give them without them having to take any kind of prescription drugs.

BIRTHS

HUNTER THOMAS PRZYTARSKI

MSgt. and Mrs. Andrew P. Przytarski of Bay St. Louis announce birth of their second child, Hunter Thomas, Sept. 3, 1999 at 12:30 a.m. at Keesler Medical Center in Biloxi. He weighed 7 pounds, 11 ounces.

Mrs. Przytarski is the former Jamie Butsch.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Butsch of Bay St. Louis, and great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Toomey of Waveland.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

Recently, University of California-San Diego sociologists analyzed nearly 32 million death certificates over 15 years. Their findings were predictable, yet startling. Deaths in the United States rise as a month starts and fall as it ends.

There is little mystery here. Government checks of every sort go out at the beginning of each month, providing spending power to the penniless. Though well intended, the government largess opens the doors to widespread abuse.

Naturally, addicts spend their fresh checks on alcohol, other drugs and other destructive items in their life. Checks with no strings attached are much too big a temptation for those who give in to their addictions with scarcely a whimper.

A death toll of 4,320, a 1 percent boost, gets worse when both alcohol and other drugs are used together, and worse again when alcohol and other drugs are factored into homicides, suicides and accidents involving substance abuse.

Several red flags go up here, the most obvious of which is the severely flawed federal process of screening and paying welfare recipients.

I know many handicapped and very ill people who complain bitterly that addicts get what they don't.

Some of these people, by the way, have life-threatening, almost terminal sicknesses. In a couple of cases, I have been personally involved in trying to get at least a medical card for them, all to no avail and with a huge waste of time.

Not even their representatives or other political connections were able to help them. Yet, many addicts and a considerable number of people with staged nervous conditions wait eagerly for their checks at the beginning of each month.

The researchers who did the study suggest that addicts be given aid which can be used only for food, clothes and shelter.

Good luck. That would slow them down and inconvenience them in their pursuit of their favorite contraband.

Whatever mechanism is used for the exclusive purchase of food, clothes and shelter would have to devise a way to prevent addicts from ingenious methods of bartering. This has been the bane of drugs control from time immemorial.

Whether given to them or purchased by them, food, clothes and even voucher tickets become hot items for bartering drugs and other desirables.

Buying what they want, begging for what they need, the same old vicious cycle goes round and round.

We the electorate definitely need to rise from our lethargy, apathy and complacency, and goad our representatives and senators on to real action beyond their partisan wrangling.

Of course, people by and large do no such things, not even bothering to vote in most elections, let alone get involved in time-consuming, intensive lobbying efforts for a cause such as the reform of screening and awarding welfare checks.

So, it's not just the issue of the foolish issuance of government checks. It is every issue which impacts us greatly in our person, in our family, in our school and church. Maybe that's the problem. We don't feel/notice an immediate impact.

Are you too comfortable?

Could it be we're so comfortable, so smug in our family, in our church/synagogue pew, in our work routine, in our recreational pursuits that we are unaware of how our money is being wasted wholesale through an insensitive, failed system?

Our daily personal input is needed every step of the way.

The Need to Grow Up

It seems that when we were children, all that we wanted to do was to grow up, and now that we are adults, we sometimes long to be kids again. We think about living within the protection of our family when our main concern as children was to just go out and play, or maybe wondering whether we would get some candy or an ice cream cone. But, we have grown up and have been exiled from our parental "Garden of Eden," and now we must toil for our daily bread. But, it is not so bad; there are many pleasures in life that we can participate in and enjoy, and we always have our families and friends to help make being a grownup more pleasurable. As children, our lives revolved around our parents and we needed and depended on them for our existence. The Bible tells us that, we spoke like children, thought like children, and reasoned like children; when we became men and women, we gave up our childish ways. Now our reliance would be on our Father in Heaven, and faith in His Son Christ Jesus ensures us that we are children of God, and God loves His children.

For in Christ Jesus you are all sons of God, through faith.

The Napping House highlights story hour

"The Napping House" is the theme for the children's story hour at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library on Wednesday, Oct. 6 at 10:30 a.m.

The Napping House, The Biggest Boy and Little Rabbit Goes to Sleep are the books to be read during the program. Susan Daigre, program coordinator, will assist the children making doorknob hangers.

"Counting" is the theme for the children's story hour at the Kiln Library, set for Thursday, October 7, at 10:30 a.m.

The Mouse Family, The Number 10 Duckling and Barney's Number Friends are the books to be featured during the program. Children will also receive a color sheet.

Weekly story hours are held September through May. Programs last approximately one half hour, depending upon subject matter and planned activity. The Kiln Library hosts a story hour every other Thursday.

Programs and activities are designed for pre-school age children three to five years old who are not part of a nursery or pre-school group.

For individual branch story hour information, contact Sandra Ladner, Kiln Library, 255-1724, or Adrienne Bradley, Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library, 467-5282.

Book discussion group to meet

As You Like It by William Shakespeare will be the selection to be discussed at the library's book discussion group's next meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 6 at 7 p.m. in the Seal Meeting Room of the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library.

The selection comes from the new volume, Happiness and Discontent, an international collection of literature, philosophy and poetry. One selection from this book is discussed at each meeting.

Sponsored by the Hancock County Library System, the discussion group began in March, 1990. Since that time, they have completed 110 readings from great books (Plato, Hobbes, Locke deTocqueville), Mississippi fiction, play readings and 20 philosophical questions. The group meets every other Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Reading selections have been chosen to stimulate lively shared inquiry discussions. This collection brings together works from around the world that speak to each other on a theme of universal significance.

A copy of Happiness and Discontent is available in the library for those who may wish to read selections in the library.

For information, call David Woodburn at the library at 467-5282.
